URBANOS creates inspiring urban concepts and designs, researches urban space and gives strategic advice. While we give importance to energetic and environmental measures, sustainability means more for us. It means strengthening the local economy and the social cohesion, and involving the citizens in the process. Our results are often unexpected but still practical. Our team consists of creative professionals fascinated by urban life. We are supported by a network of different disciplines with whom we collaborate according to your question.

Our work includes:

- urban planning and design for public spaces, neighbourhoods, cities and regions.
- research of urban dynamics
- advice about social cohesion, local economies, and participation
- infrastructure and strategic planning

NEZU AYMO architects

is established in Amsterdam in april 2009 by Yukiko Nezu (JP) and Skaftte Aymo-Boot (DK) after ten years of working experience at various Dutch and international architect offices.

Through research and unconventional thinking we develop new ideas in the form of buildings, urban plans, interiors, and spatial concepts. We approach a given program with critical curiosity and search for answers which make a simple and clear statement. The building process has a central position in our work and we believe that material knowledge combined with inspired detailing can generate additional qualities.

NEZU AYMO has realized a number of small projects, was nominated in 2010 for the LAI-award for the renovation of 't Japanese Winkeltje in Amsterdam, won the first prize in the contest 'De Knopen van de Drechtsteden' with an urban / landscape plan for de Kop van't Land in Dordrecht in 2011 and won the Great Indoors Award for the building Power Toilets in Heerhugowaard.
